

Dear friends in Christ,

As many of you know, the Will of God foresees all times and seasons, distributes grace accordingly and calls each person to a mission before bestowing upon them the heavenly bliss of eternal beatitude.

Vassula entered her eternal reward. She is now with our Lord.

We are blessed to have an advocate on high pleading our cause before God. Therefore, we ought to pray to her for the continuation of the mission begun on earth that God has entrusted to her. Jesus reassures us that the True Life in God prophetic messages will remain for “many generations to come”¹ through which He wishes to bestow on us, as He did upon Vassula, the extraordinary grace of his “perpetual Presence,” whereby we become “living Tabernacles.”²

Jesus reveals:

*“O come beloved of My Soul! My thirst for you to join Me in this way is insatiable; I have given you My Word to observe you and guard you from pitfalls; blessed are you, who serve the cause of righteousness with child-like faith! as on a harp, My Words will resound like musical notes preserving their melodious tones; My delightful Words will be given rhythmically with angelic melodies to become sonorous and audible, reaching this generation and the generations to come... do not fear, for I have attached your soul safely in Me as an embryo with an umbilical cord; I will keep animating you to enliven My Church, to console My Church and to spread My Messages with courage and zeal; your zeal for My House has been a spur to many, but be confident for I am with you; My Hand will be constantly on you; Love loves you, ic.”*³

*“My daughter... I have courted you and given you gifts, I have clothed your soul with My Presence, I have embroidered your being with the jewels of My Son, Jesus, jewels that were used to crucify Him; in My infatuation with you, I uprooted you from the house of your ancestors to place you in My garden of delights, in My own Royal dwelling place, to address My poem to you; this poem that I have written for you and for all generations to come; and I will continue to shepherd My people...”*⁴

*I Am; be blessed; remember that My Presence is perpetually with you; you have nothing to fear, My child... never doubt of My Presence; I am always with you; peace! Ic.”*⁵

“My Vassula... I have set My Throne inside you; I revealed My gifts and My treasures to you, and I adorned you with My mere Presence, it pleased Me to possess you, and pour in you My Wisdom so that your soul shines forth in splendour; I have immersed you in Our limpid springs...”

[Vassula replies]: *'And I can say now:
'I found rest, and I am enjoying Your Riches;'
even when I depart from this earth
I will leave these Treasures for future generations that are to come'.*⁶

Vassula received the Sacraments before her surgery and repeatedly told others, "I am in the hands of God now," and "I am in good hands." She was offered opportunities to travel to other places in order to receive treatment from the best surgeons, but discerned it best to remain close to her family and loved ones.

It appears that Vassula, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, had an inkling, days before her surgery and even before she was diagnosed, of the importance of relocating her prophetic revelations, paintings and other articles to a TLIG center. She sent me many photos of her doing so in recent days with the assistance of the TLIG support team.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude to many of you who went the extra mile to ensure her the best physical welfare by joining in the all-night Eucharistic vigil, as well as for your prayers, fasts and other sacrifices. We are now called to display before the world our unanimity and support for one another in love and humility as members of the one household of faith, for this is the Will of God. Let us continue to pray as we have and hold fast to the peace that comes only from God. Jesus tells and Vassula:

*"Do not lose My Peace and may you remain strong".*⁷

*"Vassula, do I ever abandon you? I am God; lean on Me, trust Me... have My peace; beloved, I have prepared a place for you".*⁸

In many ways, Jesus reassured her of his predilection and of her place in heaven:

*"Then as a Bridegroom who leads his bride to the Altar, your head leaning on My Shoulder, I will lead you to My Royal Banquet, with My left Arm around your waist, while holding you tightly in My embrace, so that together we may feast on the bounty of My Royal House; with Me, you will lack nothing; I will provide you and adorn your soul with the Glory of My Name and My Divinity, I will dress you with brocades, with myrrh and aloes wafting from your bridal robes; and while we will be sitting later near each other on our Matrimonial bed, covered with a golden canopy, I will shroud you entirely with Myself effacing the sins of your youth".*⁹

"Daughter! lily among thistles, My beloved, I am yours as much as you are Mine... I have brought you, My beloved, into My Kingly Courts, in the presence of My Father, O yes! your Father too! at His Presence, like a young stag your heart leaped with joy when you recognized

*Him; the Rays from His Mouth, when He had called you by your name, covered you in His Glory like a veil; this was a formidable moment of joy in heaven amongst all My Angels”.*¹⁰

*“I, in My turn, will reveal to you the heavenly hosts while singing to you religion and righteousness in poetry; I will assemble all the saints in heaven, I will assemble all the courts of heaven to reveal to them My majesty and My sovereignty in you and how I made out of you a royal diadem for My Head, a royal prodigy of your times; all your ornaments will be divine as they would be offered by Me; your former slavery will become freedom in Me”.*¹¹

God the Father reveals:

“I have displayed My power in you, My Vassula, and performed marvels, and through you, My bride, I have revealed my Tenderness and My Mercy to the world... I have treated you as I treat My chosen ones; I behold, I have been clothing you with My Son, Jesus Christ;

*and I, I who am the Gateway through which the virtuous enter heaven, tell you solemnly: remain as a lily, having been distilled by pure myrrh in that Lake of Agony which in reality represents the Tears of Christ, so that We would say to Our beloved: “how fragrant your perfume, more fragrant than all the other spices, adorned with Our ineffable Light, keep spreading your sweet fragrance so that you find the promised joy at the end of the path We prepared for Our bride, there you will find your loveliest rest in Eternity”.*¹²

Jesus reveals:

*Behold! now I am calling all of you who are My seed, who are the bone of My Bone, the flesh of My Flesh, to come and taste the intimate delights of Your Bridegroom’s Heart and you will have the entire Godhead living in you! repose now your head on Me, My dove, and allow Me to repose in your silence; ic”.*¹³

“in your graciousness, My child, you have obtained your reward in heaven;”¹⁴

God revealed to Vassula that she would indeed accomplish the apostolic mission He entrusted to her:

*“I guarantee to you that you will reach the end of the road I have laid out for you; although you will continue to be a sign of contradiction, you will accomplish your mission with Me, and you will glorify Me...”*¹⁵

“I, Yahweh, will give you enough strength to honour Me and gracefully accomplish your mission.”¹⁶

“I have already promised you that we shall finish your mission hand in hand with success and with victory.”¹⁷

“Believe, My sweet pupil, I, Jesus, love you; have My peace; we will work together; I and you will spread My Message; I shall send you to a few more nations, then, when I feel you have accomplished your mission, you shall return to Me; I, Myself, shall come and fetch you.”¹⁸

In light of the preceding, I ask all priests to offer a novena of Masses in thanksgiving to Vassula so that she may apply the fruits of these Masses according to her own intentions from on high. While she fulfilled her mission on earth, as the Lord foretold, she continues to intercede for us from above and work for the unification of Christian churches and the dates of Easter.

I was informed yesterday by a medical doctor and close friend of Vassula that her health condition was likely brought on by her having pushed her health to the limit, thereby weakening her immune system – all this to serve God and souls. In other words, Vassula literally spent herself like a pure libation in atonement for the salvation of souls and for the glory of God. Without counting the cost, she poured out her life for the mystical Body of Christ, the Church. Her self-offering finds relevance in the Roman Pontiff’s Apostolic Letter and Motu Proprio, Maiorem Hac Delictionem, in which he establishes “the offering of life” as a new case in the beatification and canonization process. This offering of life is distinguished from the particular cases of martyrdom and heroic virtue, based on the criteria for the beatification of a Servant of God, i.e., a “free and voluntary offer of life and heroic acceptance” – for the sake of charity – of a certain and non-lengthy death, showing “a connection between the offering of life and premature death”; the exercise, at least of an ordinary level, of the Christian virtues before the offering of life and up until the moment of death; the usual requirement of a confirmed miracle.¹⁹ As a peritus theologian for three dioceses in three causes of beatification at the Dicastery for the Causes of Saints, I recommend that the TLIG volunteer workers consider establishing an équipe for the purpose of advancing her cause for sainthood. I am happy to assist in my capacity.

One final thing I wish to share. Many of you are aware of my trip to San Giovanni Rotondo where, in prayerful union with all, I petitioned the saintly friar to watch over Vassula with utmost care. Since that moment and throughout the entire 24-hour Eucharistic vigil, a very strong sense pervaded the chapel that all would be fine. A few days later the doctor announced that Vassula’s surgery would be September 24, 2024, the Feast Day of St. Padre Pio. In response to this fortuitous event, Vassula remarked, “There is no such thing as a coincidence,” and, “I am now in good hands.” She firmly believed that the events of the entire week were directly ordained by the hand of God. The surgery was deemed a success and then, as if unexpectedly, she was with the Lord. Many, affected by this turn of events, were caught off guard. Unbeknownst to them, the saintly friar kept his promise of watching over Vassula with utmost care. Vassula entered her eternal reward at the same exact time that Padre Pio entered his: at 2:30am immediately after his Feast Day. There is no such thing as a coincidence,

May God bless you all, and may we all live a True Life in God.

In Christ,

Fr. Joseph Iannuzzi
